

Why: High-Quality Education and Valuable Networking

- The National Association of State Judicial Educators (NASJE) has a nearly 50-year history of providing excellent professional development to those who create and provide education to the nation's judges and court staff.
- The conference is a unique opportunity for judicial educators to learn how to do their jobs better and network with others in their field.
- Education sessions are based on NASJE's competency areas, ensuring that judicial educators at all levels of experience will benefit from the sessions.
- A combination of NASJE member educators and paid speakers is the perfect complement of relevant topics, professionally presented.
- Planned by professional educators, the entire event is an education in best practices, from the conference sessions to the meeting arrangements.
- The conference fee is competitive with other national conferences, allowing more of your staff to attend, within your budget.
